

London To Amsterdam For Stroke Association

Duration: 6 days

Ride approx 350 miles through 4 countries, from London to Amsterdam, Europe's most cycle-friendly city! Cycling through the picturesque countryside of rural England, we cross the Channel and continue across the flat landscapes of France and Flanders in Belgium. Stopping in the magical city of Bruges en route is a real highlight. We continue into The Netherlands and the low-lying fields of Dutch Zeeland, protected from the sea by huge barrages, and head north to Amsterdam. After 4 long days of cycling, the sight of Amsterdam's canals, cobbled streets and wonderful architecture will evoke a real sense of excitement and achievement!

DETAILED ITINERARY

Day 1: Fly Jersey - London

We fly to London and transfer to our hotel for the evening. Night hotel.

(Lunch and dinner not included)

Day 2: London – Dover – Calais

An early start from Blackheath Common allows us to avoid the morning traffic as we pass through the outskirts of London onto quieter roads. It is not long before we are among the rolling fields and villages of rural Kent, passing orchards and traditional oast houses where hops are stored. We head through Tonbridge and follow countryroads across the hills of the North Downs to Dover and the coast. Taking the ferry to Calais, we have dinner on board and cycle the short distance to our hotel in Calais. Night hotel. (Dinner on ferry not included)

Cycle approx 128km (80 miles)

Day 3: Calais – Bruges

After a hearty breakfast, we ride parallel to the coast from Calais towards historic Dunkirk, known best for the British evacuation in the Second World War. Our terrain is fairly flat, which will feel good after yesterday's hills! The Belgian border lies roughly at today's halfway mark; we cross it near the small town of Hondschoote. We continue along the flat roads of Flanders, passing dairy farms and polders – low-lying areas reclaimed from the sea. We will see many dikes and canals which protect the land, which is now extensively farmed and dotted with small villages. This area was of great strategic importance during the First World War, and much of the land was deliberately flooded in 1914 to halt the German advance. We pass preserved WW1 trenches just outside Diksmuide. There are a few low hills approaching Bruges, but then we are in this 'Venice of the North,' famed for its canals. The historic centre is a World Heritage Site and an evening wander is a very pleasant way to wind down after our day's efforts! Night hotel.

Cycle approx 134km (83 miles)

Day 4: Bruges – Breda

Leaving the city, we ride north, crossing into The Netherlands at the small town of Sluis, and continuing to Breskens. A short ferry ride takes us across to the busy port of Vlissingen, in Zeeland. Here we ride east along the low-lying peninsula, formerly an island, which is protected from flooding by a series of sea barrages. Back on the 'mainland' we ride northeast through open fields of crops, passing small towns and villages. There are some low hills which stretch our legs before reaching the busier streets of Breda. Night hotel.

Cycle approx 148km (91 miles)

Day 5: Breda – Amsterdam

Our last day is another long one, but mainly flat as we head north through intensively farmed fields, which stretch for miles along our route. Most of this region is artificially created by man-made dikes holding back the sea. These polders are huge and the many villages, and intensive agriculture that takes place, is a testimony to man's ingenuity and skill. We pass the historic town of Woerden, known for its Gouda cheese-making, en-route to the suburbs of Amsterdam. We then savour the experience of pedalling into one of the most cycle-friendly cities in Europe, passing canals and fascinating buildings on our way to the heart of the city and the end of our rewarding challenge! This evening we have a big celebration to mark our achievements. Night hotel.

Cycle approx 145km (90 miles)

Day 6: Amsterdam – London – Jersey

The morning is free for sight-seeing and exploring Amsterdam, or simply relaxing in one of the city's many cafés. We then transfer to the airport for our flight to Jersey.

(Lunch and dinner not included)

GRADE | YELLOW

Trips are graded Yellow, Orange or Red, in increasing level of challenge. This trip lies within the YELLOW range.

The grade is determined by factors such as terrain, distance, climate, altitude, etc. Each colour grade has a spectrum which reflects the difficulty of these factors; trip duration, accommodation and living conditions (see icon) are also taken into account.
