

Macmillan Coast To Coast Cycle

Duration: 4 days

Leaving the West Coast we head inland, carving our way over the Cumbrian Mountains and through the Lake District National Park, before crossing into Yorkshire, through the heart of the famous Dales and onto our destination: the East Coast and the historic town of Whitby. Gruelling climbs, magnificent descents and stunning scenery await us!

This is a challenge for the hardy, taking whatever the Lakes and the Dales might throw at us. We feel a wonderful sense of achievement when we reach the fabulous town of Whitby.

DETAILED ITINERARY

Day 1: Workington - Kendal

Leaving the rugged coastline of the West Coast, we head into the winding lanes that lead us to the foothills of the Cumbrian Mountains. We encounter the challenging Whinlatter Pass standing over 350m above sea level; our first challenge before dropping down into the picturesque town of Keswick. Passing many of the lakes that make this area famous we cycle past Derwent Water, Thirlmere and Windermere as well riding beneath the slopes of one of England's highest mountains, Hellvelyn. We plough on to our evening's destination in Kendal. Here we are rewarded by a hot shower and some wholesome food to replenish our energies ready for our next day in the saddle. Night hotel.

Cycle approx. 53 miles

Day 2: Kendal - Scotch Corner

After a hearty breakfast we head east, leaving behind the beautiful Lake District and crossing the county boundary into Yorkshire and its stunning Dales. Our route today sees some steep climbs rising to over 300m at the highest point. We pass through Sedbergh and Hawes as we snake our way across the beautiful Yorkshire Dales National Park towards Richmond and beyond to Scotch Corner. Night hotel.

Cycle approx. 57 miles

Day 3: Scotch Corner - Whitby

Our final day's ride has a more gentle start before we tackle the Cleveland Hills and North York Moors with 1:3 gradients! We are of course rewarded by fabulous views (on a clear day) across the Moors and down to the Coast, which makes it all worthwhile after all that effort! What better way to end than cycling some great freewheeling descents into the historic town of Whitby. Home to the infamous Captain Cook and HMS Endeavour, the town makes a fitting finish to a tough but awesome ride. After finishing at the seafront we take a transfer back to Workington, check into the hotel and share in a well-earned celebration.

Cycle approx. 55 miles

Day 4: Depart Workington

After breakfast we say our final goodbyes and all head home with achy legs but a great sense of achievement!
