Paris Tour De France Extension

DURATION:

2 days

Make the most of being in Paris for the grand finale of the Tour de France!

If you like the idea of a relaxed end to your London to Paris ride – watching the finish of the world's most famous bike race, catching a glimpse of the podium presentations, and generally lapping up the fantastic atmosphere – we'd recommend staying an extra night in Paris. Race timings vary, and are not confirmed until nearer the time, so extending your stay removes the possibility of leaving part-way through the racing, and any worries over how much time it will take to get to the Gare du Nord.

This extension adds an extra night in your Paris hotel with breakfast, and Eurostar travel to London. Your bike will be driven back to London, for you to collect at St Pancras station when your train arrives.

DETAILED ITINERARY

Day 1: Paris; enjoy Tour de France finale

(main group departs on Eurostar)

You are free to relax and enjoy your day in Paris. Spend it as you will, but do make the most of being able to see the grand spectacle of the Tour de France peloton speeding around the city streets. If you get a good spot, you can watch the laps before what's usually (but not always!) the final sprint for the line. Podium presentations usually take place shortly afterwards. Then enjoy the rest of your evening in Paris! Night hotel.

Breakfast provided. Lunch and Dinner own arrangements. Hotel accommodation to be delivered to your home.)

Breakfast provided.

This extension requires a minimum of 4 people to operate (it may be possible to operate this for 2 or 3 people but a supplement will be payable).
